

WOMEN, GENDER, AND SEXUALITY STUDIES, DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY (PH.D.)

Students are required to complete at least 36 credits of required courses and 18 credits of elective credit for a total of 54 credits.

Students in the program explore feminist and queer theories, methodologies, and genealogies through coursework within the department, then draw upon resources across UMD and the DC area to build an individualized course of study as they ready themselves for dissertation research. With the guidance of faculty, students work through our series of benchmarks in order to gain a strong grounding in our field and then develop their specific trajectory, pursuing the classes, networks, and training necessary for the projects they are building.

Advance to Candidacy: In addition to the course requirements below, students must pass all of the following: the Portfolio Review, Language Requirement, and Major Fields.

Post-Candidacy: Submit and defend Dissertation Prospectus within 6 months or one semester of advancement to candidacy (whichever is longer). Complete at least 12 credits of WGSS899 (<https://academiccatalog.umd.edu/search/?P=WMST899>) Doctoral Dissertation Research and successfully defend and submit an original dissertation.
